Recent Acquisitions

June 2018

June 2018 marks the two year anniversary of Blueberry Books. In the last twelve months we've joined the PBFA, attended our first book fairs and produced our first catalogue.

This is a slightly eclectic array of books, but I hope you enjoy looking through them as much as I have enjoyed cataloguing them.

Interested in a book?

Please contact us to let us know, our details are at the back of the catalogue.

We accept payment through Paypal, cheque or bank transfer. Please note that you do not need a Paypal account to pay a Paypal invoice, just your bank card details, and to provide us with your e-mail address.

Postage is free to all UK addresses. For overseas please get in touch and we will provide you with a quote.

Every effort has been made to make the information contained within as accurate as possible. If you are not happy with your book upon receipt, for whatever reason, please get in touch regarding returning it for a full refund.

7. An Old Country Parson, Some Proposals Towards Preventing the Growth of Popery: Humbly Offered to His Diocesan.

Printed for R. Baldwin, London. MDCCLXVIII [1768]. First and Only Edition.

8vo in 4s. [2], 56p. Disbound.

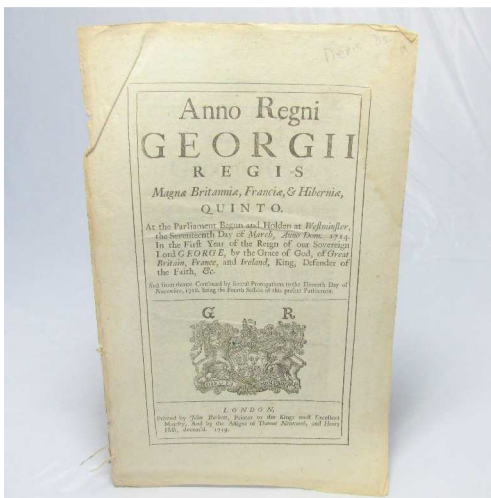

Small pencil inscriptions and thumbmarks to the external pages. Occasional ink marginalia.

An anti-Catholic pamphlet written by an anonymous Church of England clergyman.

"The most effectual means, says this writer, to stop the increase of popery and superstition, is, to be infinitely careful not to run into that atheism and profane libertinism, which is the contrary extreme to superstition. For, while we fly from the superstition of popery, if we run into the contempt of all religion, that profane libertinism will probably terminate in popery again... [A]bove all, he is for having the church lands, tythes, &c. which were taken from the church at the dissolution of the monasteries, restored to the clergy... We much fear that our worthy gentleman's proposal would rather increase, than prevent, the growth of popery." - The Monthly Review.

8. [ANONYMOUS] Anno Regni Georgii Regis Magnae Britanniae, Franciae, & Hiberniae, Quinto. At the Parliament Begun and Holden at Westminster, the Seventeenth Day of March, Anno Dom. 1714. In the First Year of the Reign of Our Sovereign Lord George....An Act for Relief of Such Sufferers of the Islands of Nevis and St. Christophers as Have Settled in Either of those Islands, and Made Due Proof of Such Settlement Before the Twenty Fifth Day of December, One Thousand Seven Hundred and Twelve.

Printed by John Baskett, London. 1719.

Folio. [2], 491-492p. Disbound.

Pencil inscription on the title page. Tidemarks.

During the War of the Spanish Succession the islands of St Kitts (Saint Christophers) and Nevis, which were rich through sugar plantations, sustained losses. The most severe being Pierre Le Moynes d'Iberville's attack on Nevis in 1706. An invasion which was ultimately resisted by the slaves rather than the local militia. In 1713 the French gifted their portion of the island to Britain through the Treaty of Utrecht. It appears that through a taxation on Hackney coaches and chairs funds were provided to help the people of the islands who had suffered as a result. Despite the slaves bravery it is likely that the money went to the rich plantation owners who found themselves displaced.

ESTC N50553.

9. HOPE, John. Thoughts in Prose and Verse, Started, in His Walks.

Printed by R. Christopher, Stockton. 1780. First and only edition.

8vo in 4s. [3], vi-xvi, 349, [1]p. Page ix is mispaginated as xi. Rebound in full calf with new endpapers. Half title missing.

Very good. Pencil inscription to front free endpaper and errata. Age toned. Foxed. Some tidemarks.

A collection of essays and poems that had for the most part already been printed in periodicals. The London Magazine gave a mostly negative review, saying that the author "censures booksellers pretty freely; and dictates to mankind in general, with an air of material authority, that shews he thinks himself of no little consequence". Despite this they declare "that there are many curious, interesting, and entertaining pieces in this volume."

ESTC T71743.

19. SMALLSHOT, Jasper. Squibs and Crackers, Serious, Comical and Tender.

J. Harding, London. MDCCCXII [1812]. First and only edition.
8vo. [8], 207, [1]p. Rebound, Moroccan backed marbled boards.

Very good. Repairs to the gutter of the first six leaves. First and last few pages foxed with the occasional scattered spots throughout. Page edges age toned.

A scarce collection of mostly comical verse by a Mr Ware, on a variety of subjects, published under the pseudonym Jasper Smallshot. It was not very well received:

"'Squibs and Crackers' are both stupid and vulgar; and as much a disgrace as can attach to an impotent trifle of this kind certainly belongs to the worthless volume before us." - The Monthly Review

"If all the copies of this work are printed on paper equally fine with that submitted to our inspection, we are under the necessity of strongly regretting the misuse that has been made of it." - The Literary Panorama, and National Register.

Copac shows one copy held by the British Library and an online copy held by Historical Texts.

Oct 18/47 Mr A complains of the Beer being very unsmooth. The Fermentation were good, the only way in which I can account for it is not having quite sufficient quantity of hops
I have noticed that at this time of the year when the young starch is coming in there is always complaint either that the beer is too forward or due to bitter. The weather this month was very close & muggy which I suppose has great effect upon the beer but the state in which they are now in could not arise from this alone
my best attention shall be given

20. DOMBRAIN, James. [Brewer's assistant manuscript notebook].

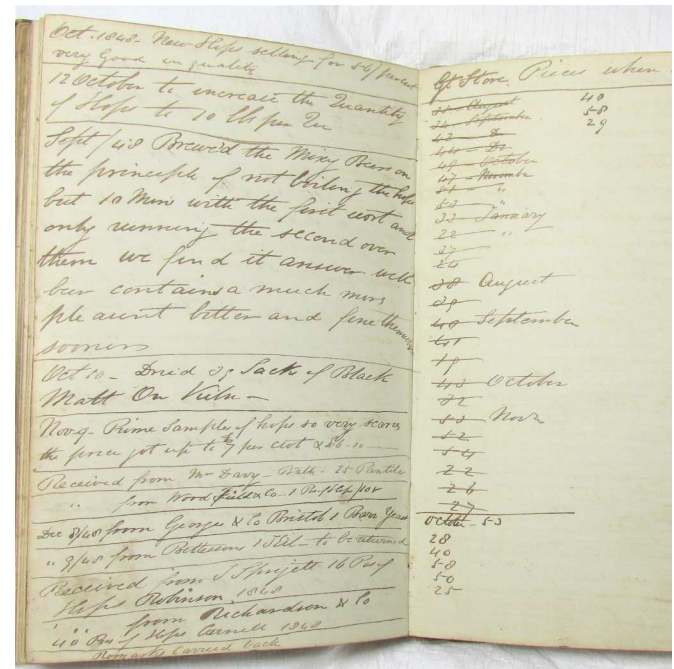

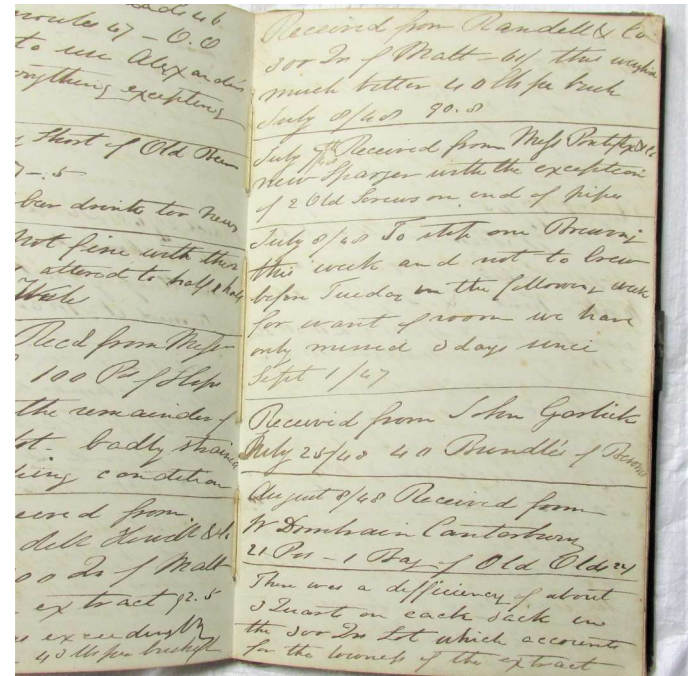

Bath, 1846.

8vo. [222]p. Morocco.

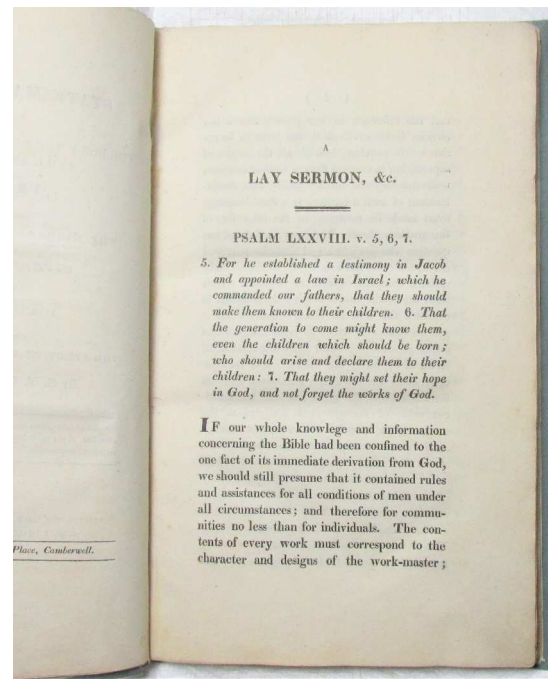

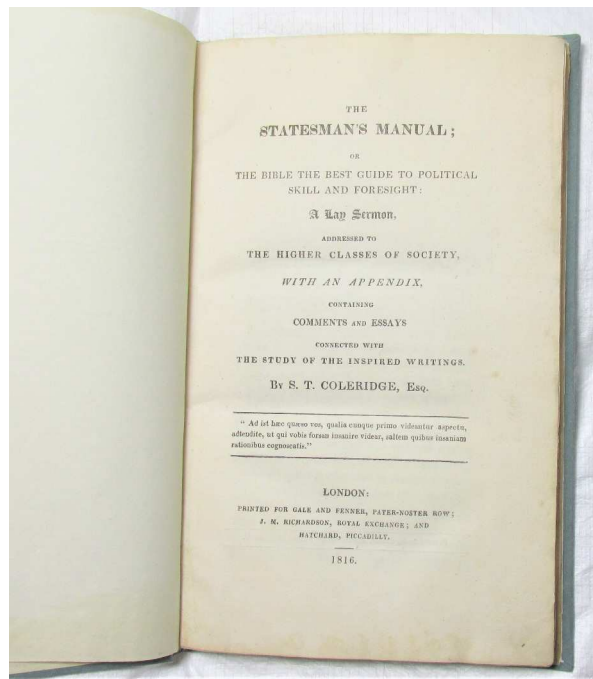

Good. Joints starting. Bumped with some loss. Extremities rubbed. Occasional thumbmarks.

James Dombrain was a brewer's apprentice at the Northgate Brewery in Bath. His apprenticeship started on 7th February 1844 for three years. This is his notebook for 1846. The Northgate Brewery was the largest brewery in the West of England. It occupied a site next to the river, which is the Podium today. The original buildings were demolished during the 'Sack of Bath' in the 1960s. There was a second site across the river Avon, connected by a wooden bridge, where some of the original buildings still survive. The brewery closed in 1867.

The 1861 census has a brewer of the name James Dombrain, aged 33, living in 30 Southampton Street in Camberwell, London. Married to Sarah who was born there. One of their three children and nephew (living with them) appear to have been born in Bath, with another child in Bathwick, the third was born in Camberwell. I think that we can assume that it is the same James Dombrain. This would have made him 18 at the time of writing the notebook.

21. COLERIDGE, S[amuel] T[aylor]. The Statesman's Manual; Or the Bible the Best Guide to Political Skill and Foresight: a Lay Sermon, Addressed to the Higher Classes of Society, with an Appendix, Containing Comments and Essays Connected with the Study of the Inspired Writings.

Printed for Gale and Fenner, London. 1816. First edition.

8vo in 4s. 65, [3], xlvii, [1]p. Untrimmed. Recent sugar paper covered boards with original label laid down.

The first of two lay sermons and one of Coleridge's lesser known works. It was written as a reaction to the post-Waterloo depression in England and was not particularly well received. It is, however, a useful tract for studying Coleridge's political and religious thoughts. It was written while as an in-patient at the Highgate home of James Gillman, who was treating Coleridge for his opium addiction.

Very good. Light shelfwear and sunning. Several instances of pencil marginalia. Offsetting to endpapers. Light scattered foxing in places, and the occasional thumbmark.

[LONG PROROGATION].

22. SHAFTESBURY, ANTHONY ASHLEY COOPER, Earl of. Two Speeches. I. The Earl of Shaftsbury's Speech in the House of Lords the 20th. of October, 1675. II. The D. of Buckingham's Speech in the House of Lords the 16th. of November 1675. Together with the Protestation, and Reasons of Several Lords for the Dissolution of this Parliament; Entred in the Lords Journal the Day the Parliament was Prorogued, Nov. 22d. 1675.

Amsterdam. Printed Anno Domini. 1675. First edition.

4to. [4], 18, [2]p. First and last leaf are blank as usual. One of two states on the ESTC. Errata slip missing. Recent cloth.

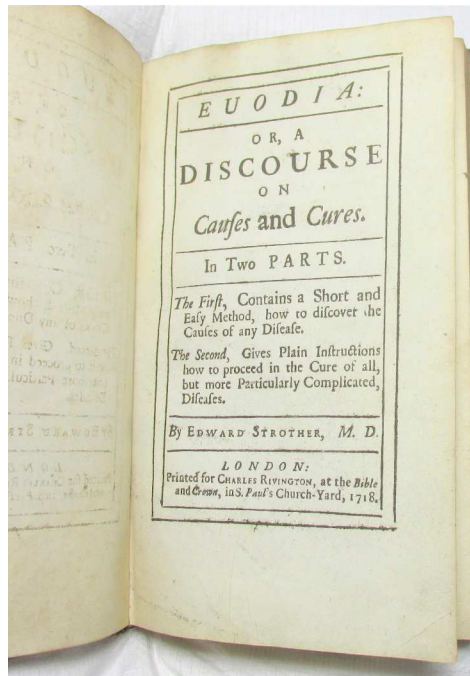

The first is an important speech made by the Earl of Shaftesbury during the debate on the case of Shirley v. Fagg. Wherein he argued that the Bishops and Danby were attempting to reduce the powers of the House of Lords. Parliament soon after prorogued and did not reassemble until 1677.

The second is a short speech by George Villiers, Duke of Buckingham, wherein he requests leave to bring a Bill of Indulgence for Protestant Dissenters, which was granted.

Very good. Minor shelfwear. Discolouration to front pastedown from past label. Pencil inscriptions to the endpapers. Ink inscription to the front blank and additional ink pagination to page corners. Ink stamp to title page. Rear blank clipped. Age toned. Foxed. Occasional tidemark to margins. Two blanks are grubby.

ESTC R13400. "L" of "Lords" on line 3 is below "af" and "P" of Parliament on line 11 is below the "t".

23. STROTHER, Edward. Euodia: Or, a Discourse on Causes and Cures. In Two Parts. The First, Contains a Short and Easy Method, How to Discover the Causes of any Disease. The Second, Gives Plain Instructions How to Proceed in the Cure of All, but More Particularly Complicated, Diseases.

Printed for Charles Rivington, London. 1718. First edition.

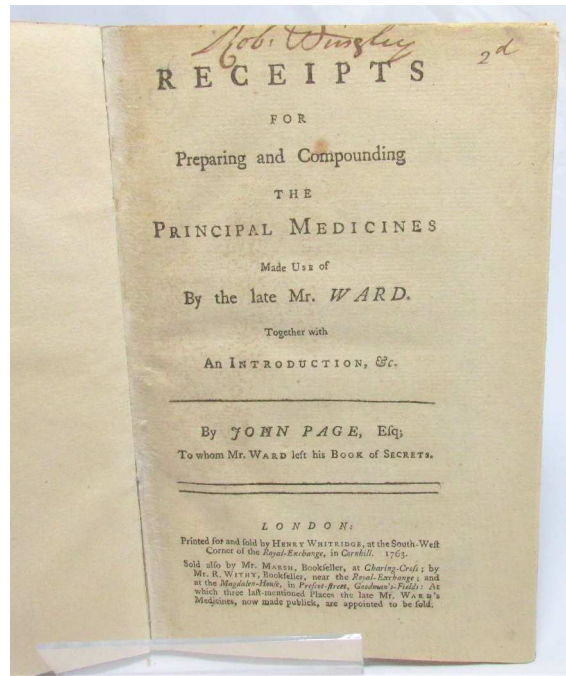

8vo. [16], 200, [16]p. Contemporary gilt-panelled black morocco.

Good. Joints just starting. Bumped. Extremities rubbed. Pencil inscriptions to the front blank and front free endpaper. Loss and tidemark to rear free endpaper. Bright. Occasional mark. Tear to B1.

An attractive medical text by the physician Edward Strother (1675-1737).

ESTC T100438.

London: Printed, and Dublin Reprinted in the Year MDCCXL [1740]. First Dublin edition.
8vo in 4s. [3], 4-16p. Smartly bound in modern marbled boards.

Very good. Lightly rubbed. Corners chipped without loss to the text. Tidemarks. Some thumbmarks.

Written as if from Alexander Pope, but is actually by James Miller. This is essentially an attack on Walpole.

ESTC T5767. Variant with date on title page in Roman numerals.

£150

27. STOWELL, B[ellanne]. Manxland: a Tale. With an Introductory Sketch of Manx Home Missions.

James Nisbet, London. MDCCCLXIII [1863]. First edition.

8vo. viii, 199, [1], 16p. Original green cloth. James Maclehose, Glasgow, booksellers label. Publisher's catalogue to the rear. Frontis plus three plates.

Good. Hinges strained. Rubbed. Bumped. Slightly cocked. Large section missing from rear free endpaper. Section missing from the last page of the publisher's catalogue. Light foxing. Some thumbmarks. Several small tidemarks.

Made up of two part, the first being an account of the Isle of Man Diocesan Association. The second part is fiction.

Four copies on Copac, held at the British Library, Oxford University, Cambridge University, and the National Library of Scotland.

£30

28. JONES, Jenkin. Hobby Horses, a Poetic Allegory in Five Parts.

Printed for M. Allen, London. [1798]. First and only edition.

"We are pleased in observing, that the author of the present performance knows when to smile, and when to frown: far from displaying the slightest propensity to indulge a rancorous and malignant spirit, he often pleads the cause of humanity, and always with earnestness and ardour; the follies of the day are ridiculed with a good humoured and easy banter, while vice only is lashed with the scorpion scourge of satire." - The Analytical Review.
